LSAT PREP FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

The Max Berger Pre-Law LSAT Reimbursement Program provides financial assistance to current undergraduate students and recent graduates (class of 2016+) that have taken a commercial LSAT preparation course; purchased books or tutoring. Preference will be given to those that have actively participated in Baruch's pre-law programs, are not otherwise receiving ongoing institutional scholarship assistance and who have not previously been awarded this reimbursement. How to Apply: Complete and submit the application form within 60 days of receiving score from LSAC at <https://studentaffairs.baruch.cuny.edu/wp-content/uploads/sites/6/2020/01/LSAT-Reimbursement-Form.pdf>.

7Sage LSAT Prep will be giving a $7,000 scholarship to one prelaw student; a $1,000 scholarship to one runner up and LSAT test prep to more students. Applications open April 2022. Find more details at: <https://7sage.com/7k-scholarship/>.

Kaplan Test Prep announces its Tuition Assistance Program for students with socio-economic disadvantages that cannot gain access to Kaplan products and offers a three tiered discount program: Students must be currently enrolled in college, have at least a 3.0 GPA, submit a transcript & award from current school's financial aid department indicating an EFC below 4,000. Students can submit applications to: <https://www.formstack.com/forms/?1416321-LhIWfblAp3>
